Ft. Worth Texas

October Newsletter

President's Message

The WWATS Rally and Free Hunt in Antlers, Oklahoma was a huge success and Cowtown Treasure Hunters was well represented. I don't believe that anyone walked away without winning a couple of prizes. Participants were from Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri, and as far away as Ohio. Many stories were told and friendships were made. Those in attendance really had a good time.

November is election time, not only for offices across the United States, but also for C.T.T.H.. You have until November 21st to decide who will chair the different positions for our club. Maybe you might want to volunteer???

Don't forget our Annual Awards Banquet that will be held December 2nd at our regular meeting place, the Ft. Worth Fire and Police Training Center, 1000 Calvert. Ft. Worth, TX. Beginning at 7:00 P.M. For those members attending, your admission will be a Christmas gift for a boy and for a girl, which will be donated to the "Toys for Tots" program, sponsored by the United States Marine Corp.

A report will be given at our November meeting, concerning the Amigos Hunt that is being held Nov.11th in Canton, TX.

Happy Hunting Everyone, Larry

Wizard Wells

A small agricultural market center in east-central Jack County, Wizard Wells became famous in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries for its mineral water wells. People came from miles around to bathe in and drink this water that reportedly cured illnesses. Location: Wizard Wells is located on a northward loop in Farm Road 1156 in Jack County at a point that is 2.4 miles north of Vineyard and 13.0 miles east of Jacksboro.
